- Large-scale renovation project for the Conference Tower and West Exhibition Halls

The Tokyo Metropolitan Government launched a large-scale renovation project for the Conference Tower and West Exhibition Halls. (Scheduled completion date: December 2025)

Moving toward the achievement of a security framework combining cutting-edge robot technology with human workers, we conducted verification experiments using self-driving patrol security robots, surveillance security cameras, and display-type virtual security systems with automatic guidance functions.

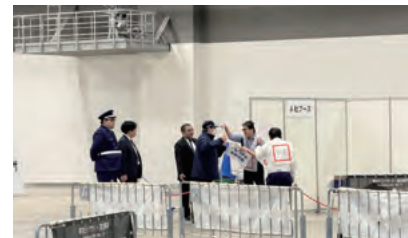

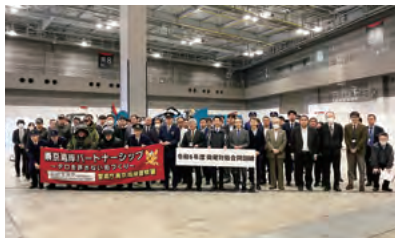

● Fire and Crime Prevention Measures

- Self-defense fire drills, etc.

We held statutory self-defense fire drills twice in the year under review. Additionally, we conducted individual training through Tokyo Big Sight security staff such as training on contacting authorities, training on operating fire extinguishers, and training for dealing with suspicious persons. We also held joint self-defense fire drills with organizers. Through these activities, we worked to improve the safety and security of Tokyo Big Sight.

- Joint training for sudden events

On February 28, 2025, under the guidance and cooperation of the Metropolitan Police Department, joint training for sudden events during exhibitions was conducted covering how to deal with protest groups and suspicious items, as well as provide evacuation guidance. Facility and event security personnel participated in this joint training session to strengthen coordination and improve their response capability.

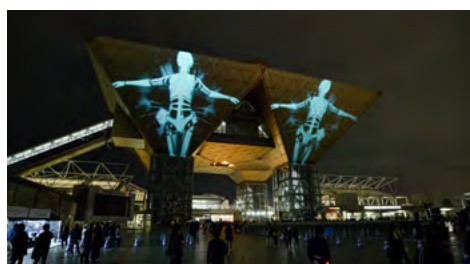

● Stimulating the Liveliness of the Local Area

- Tokyo International Projection Mapping Awards Vol. 9 (November 16, 2024)

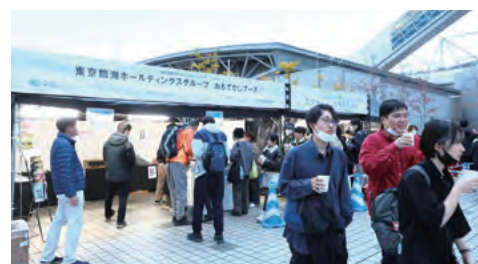

The 9th iteration of these awards, which utilized the wall surface of the Conference Tower, was viewed by approximately 12,000 people, the largest number in the event's history.

In addition, group company PR was implemented at the "Hospitality Booth" provided by Tokyo Rinkai Holdings Group, alongside free distribution of hot drinks.

Through the sponsorship activities related to these awards, we will continue to create regional prosperity while simultaneously supporting the discovery and education of the next generation of spatial video creators. (Next event planned for Saturday, November 15, 2025.)
